BIOGRAPHY

"There are gestures that we perform in childhood, without knowing that one day they would influence our life choices or a future career. This is probably how the artistic destiny of Pierre Jean Chabert is born."

Pierre Jean Chabert - portrait

After fifteen years of hectic Parisian life, Pierre-Jean CHABERT moved to the side of Tours, on the banks of the Cher, close to Nature. From childhood, he discovered the modelling of the earth in a house in the south of France, his region of origin. Then the drawing becomes his preferred mode of expression and allows him to give free rein to his imagination.

As a young adult and in parallel with his studies of comedy and body language, he initiates himself alone to the modelling of the earth to realize the heads of chimeras that populate his fantastic bestiary. At 24, he collaborated with a director on the creation of several animated films, the first of which is entitled «Floyd, le saut de langes».

It is then a new exploration of modelling work that begins with the discovery of new materials, polymer pastes such as the «Fimo» and the «Super Sculpey». Thus, Pierre-Jean Chabert began to model assiduously, heads, busts and characters, often from a fantastic universe and science fiction. Through his research, he approached worlds previously unknown to him, those of miniature sculpture and figurine.

At 30, he decided to take courses to study the living model. For three years, he deepened his practice with Philippe Seené; he produced nudes, portraits and animal pieces. He learned the techniques of moulding, resin, welding, etc. and had bronze pieces made for his first exhibitions. Thanks to their success, his activity was enriched by private commissions and a growing freedom devoted to his personal creations. Pierre Jean is dedicated to what he loves most: to let his creativity vibrate, to sharpen his sense of observation and to develop his critical mind.

He allows us through his works to share his privileged and precious moments of life that every artist needs to be free.

One of these bearded artists, sometimes crazy, sometimes thoughtful, who we take pleasure in seeing evolve, and whose authenticity and precision we like to see in the artistic gesture.

INTERVIEW

BETWEEN MAN AND ANIMAL

It is not only a question of treating the beauty of the animal, but its life, its daily life. Seeking accuracy and balance, sharing a moment of intimacy, like an instant and ideally find harmony and grace.

To respect him in his features, in his anatomy, that is my conviction. And then, of course, emotion, that indefinable expression that you can read in an eye, a half-open mouth, a turned ear... We must know how to capture this moment that each one will interpret in his own way, with his sensitivity.

I hear a lot about the look, the expression that comes out of my work, which is often between humans and animals.

This look is also the world we share.

Thanks to the friend, the curious, the amateur who pushes the door of the exhibition or the workshop, the man and the animal are reunited.

WHO'S WATCHING WHO ?

Face to face, captivated or astonished, sometimes frightened, the living encounters the frozen. Life is movement, that's what I'm trying to instill.

Explore an attitude, find the balance, the dynamics. Work a portrait as an extract, focus on a detail and let the eye free to extend it.

Some works will only see the light of day after several years, when an animal returns in a loop, harassing me until late at night. Then the excitement, the feeling of the earth overwhelms me.

Sometimes you have to channel it, refocus on it.

To tell this animal violence, to life, to death, but also in survival.

One species disappears, another reappears... near a pond, or under the veil of a morning mist, sometimes showing fangs, in struggle and fight, passion and rut...

This is the story of my bestiary.

OUR TESTIMONY

"Pierre Jean Chabert challenges the codes of animal sculpture in each of his creations.

His Art, identifiable at first glance, combines a realistic and generous approach with a particularly subtle abstract dimension. Each of his pieces is a fine blend of balance between matter, emotions and the very essence of animal life. This same balance draws its full power in the interpretation of everything to everyone and in the juxtaposition between matter, the force of bronze, sublime, assumed, particularly evocative, disproportionately powerful and the emptiness allowing the mind to inscribe the work in a subjective and deeply intimate imaginary continuum.

From then on, it is no longer the collector who owns the work but rather the work who owns the collector or who aspires to become its owner.

Like unspoken obsessions, the creations of Pierre-Jean inhabit us and mark our spirit with iron. There are many sculptures by Pierre-Jean Chabert that represent the absolute forces of nature in a quiet state, which stimulate the imagination in a silk case despite the contrast of the matter and the forces in presence.

Movement takes shape beyond matter and emptiness becomes an integral part of our perception of life itself, it invites us on a journey.

*A perfect balance.
It's all there, that's all.
It is mindblowing !"*
